SHERWOOD ISLAND, 1975-2015:

Photography by Larry Silver

In conjunction with the reopening of the newly renovated Sherwood Island Pavilion, the Westport Library recently featured a photography exhibit, "Sherwood Island, 1975-2015," by internationally known photographer and longtime Westport resident, Larry Silver. The images document the changing lifestyle of visitors to Connecticut's first state park over the last four decades.

Silver's work is currently held in more than 29 museum collections, among them, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Jewish Museum in New York City, Brooklyn Museum, Boston Museum of Fine Arts, Whitney Museum of Fine Arts, Yale University Art Gallery, New Britain Museum, The New York Historical Society and Smithsonian Museum of American Art, whose permanent collection includes "Sunset at Sherwood Island State Park." *
